COURT CURB ON FAUBUS ASKED

15 Indicted By Pickaway Grand Jury

Six Defendants Accused in Jail Break Attempt

The Pickaway County Grand Jury, sitting in special session yesterday, returned 22 indictments against 15 defendants in 25 cases presented to it by County Prosecutor Ray Davis.

The jury did not indict in three cases involving charges of driving a motor vehicle without the owner's consent. In the cases, no bills were returned on Glenn Haddox, Williamsport; Glenn R. Carlisle, Fresno, Calif.; and James Gowan, Newsurvey, Mo.

Carlisle and Gowan, however, were indicted on charges of attempted jail break. Other indictments were returned against:

Joe Hill, 328 E. Ohio St., two counts: forgery and issuing a check with no account.

Bernard Coleman, 159 1/2 W. Main St., two counts: burglary and larceny.

FRANKLIN D. STEVENS, Route 1, Ashville, three counts: burglary, larceny, and attempted jail break. William "Pete" Diamond, Columbus, two counts: burglary and larceny.

Richard E. Dawson, 142 E. Mill St., two counts: forgery and attempted jail break.

Elsie Irene Conrad Cotton, Circleville, bigamy.

Edward L. Devlin, Columbus, shooting with intent to kill.

John Brenton Preston, Walso, two counts: forgery and attempted jail break.

Claude Edward Grant, Columbus, burglary with count for larceny.

Henrietta Diamond, Columbus, burglary with count for larceny.

Adrian Preston, Alversville, Ky., conveying articles into jail to aid in escape.

Albert C. Shirley, Columbus, burglary with count for larceny.

Norman K. Christman, Lockbourne Air Base, attempted jail break.

Fremont Asking B-G For University Branch

FREMONT — The Fremont Board of Education Monday night adopted a resolution asking Bowling Green State University to establish a branch here.

School officials here say such a branch would help relieve crowded conditions at the university and provide a college education at less cost to Fremont area students.

Nashville Integrated School Blasted; 5 Men Questioned

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (AP)—A massive dynamite blast wrecked the newly integrated half million dollar Hattie Cotton elementary school here early today and hours later police arrested five men for questioning.

Three of the men were seized by Asst. Police Chief F. W. Muller when they refused to move from the vicinity of another grammar school which, like the dynamited one, was among six where white and Negro first graders went to classes for the first time Monday.

One of the other two arrested was a brother of one of the first three arrested.

THE OFFICERS said they found at the home of the two seized by Cobb and Searcy 50 feet of wire of a type used with the explosives which wrecked Cotton School.

Police said one of the two

Fair Entrants Ignore Rain

Rain today failed to dampen the enthusiasm of entrants in the Pickaway County Fair which starts tomorrow.

As the rains fell, preparations continued at the Fairgrounds for the biggest and best county fair in history. Most of the livestock entries will be in by 8 o'clock tonight, ready for the judging which begins tomorrow morning.

The Coliseum at the Fairgrounds was being dressed with flashy display booths by 4-H Clubs, Granges,

Fund Offices Now In Hotel

Central Location To Aid Campaigners

Headquarters for the Pickaway County Community Fund were opened at the American Hotel today, according to Mr. and Mrs. Karl Mason, co-chairmen of this year's fund drive.

The centrally-located headquarters will make it more convenient for campaign workers and contributors to the fund.

Mrs. Bernice Young will handle secretarial duties at fund headquarters and will take all calls there. It is planned that all contributions will be sent to campaign headquarters instead of to H. E. Clifton, treasurer of the Pickaway County Community Fund.

First contributions have been received at campaign headquarters. The Circleville Ice Co. has contributed $150 as a starter for the fund. In addition, Mayor Robert E. Hedges today gave the first individual donation—$25. Both the Circleville Ice Co. and Mayor Hedges called on business, industry and individuals to be generous in giving to the fund.

This year's goal is $28,700 and it will finance the operations of the Youth Canteen, Boy Scouts, Girl Scouts, Salvation Army and Red Cross for next year.

LAST NIGHT Gene Barthelmas, chairman of the special groups collections, met with his captains to outline plans for the special groups campaign which opens next Monday. L. D. Varble gave the training talk to special groups campaign workers.

Tomorrow letters will go to all the ministers in the county asking them to lend their support to the fund drive, particularly in sermons this coming Sunday.

Plans are under way for a Community Fund display at the Pickaway County Fair starting tomorrow.

a suspect we'd been looking for all night.

The first three arrested were charged with unlawful possession of weapons and ordered held under bonds of $25,000 each. They were identified as Venson Crimmons, 32; James R. Harris, 47; and J. B. Blackwell, 42.

The other two arrested, identified as Carol Crimmons, brother of Venson, and W. D. Hodge, were charged with vagrancy and held under $250 bonds each.

Hearing for the five men, all of whom live outside the city limits, was set for Wednesday afternoon in City Court.

Muller said that in the car of the first three men arrested he found a dynamite detonating device, a heavily weighted billy club with "KKK" carved on the handle, two heavy wooden mallets and a length of wire of the type used in setting off explosives.

The car itself, Muller said, was plastered with numerous "KKK" signs.

The three men taken into custody were reported to have been seen Monday at all of the city grammar schools where there were violent anti-segregation demonstrations.

Muller added that the three also had been seen at rallies held here by John Kasper, New Jersey-born segregationist.

The blast at Cotton school blew

Boy Scouts and Girl Scouts. Large tents had been erected and hogs, sheep, and dairy and beef cattle were being put into stalls.

Concession stands were in place for the most part. The rain made the race track impassable today, but if there is no further rain the track will be in A-1 condition for harness racing which opens Thursday night.

The six-man football preview will be held Thursday afternoon instead of Friday afternoon as previously announced. Starting at 2 p. m. each team will play two quarters.

Fair manager William Cook today announced that Friday is "Kid's Day". More than 14,000 tickets to the fair have been placed in the schools. The tickets will admit the youngsters to the fair free of charge. Costs of concession rides will be reduced for children on Friday.

SOME COUNTY schools will close Thursday afternoon and Friday to allow pupils to attend the fair. Circleville, Washington Twp. and Wayne Twp. schools will not close for the fair.

One feature of this year's exposition is the suggestion box. Prizes totaling $50 will be awarded for the best suggestions on how to make the Pickaway County Fair better. The suggestions should be in letter form and should be turned in to the fair manager's office or at the Circleville Herald office during the first three days of the fair. The entries will be judged and the prizes awarded Saturday.

First prize will be $25, second prize $15 and third prize $10. Cook urged all persons to make suggestions on how to improve the fair. He said, "It's a people's fair and not the fair board's fair. Everyone should participate. How can we make it a better fair if we don't hear from the persons who should be enjoying it?"

There will be a colt show and judging Friday starting at 3 p. m. Both Western and American Saddle horses will be shown and judged.

Originally there was a colt sale set for 7:15 p. m. Friday. It was announced today that there will be no public auction at that time.

Greeks Show Concern Over U.S. Arms Lift

ATHENS (AP)—Greek officials showed concern today that Greece might become involved in the Middle East crisis because its airfield is used in the U. S. arms airlift. Under the 1953 U. S.-Greek agreement on military facilities, U. S. armed forces have the right to enter Greece and fly over its territory.

Dulles Believes Peace Possible In Syria Fuss

Top U. S. Diplomat Admits Trouble in Mideast Could Grow

WASHINGTON (AP)—Secretary of State Dulles said today he believes the Syrian situation will be worked out peacefully although there are elements which could lead to serious trouble.

He told a news conference the United States does not believe in peace at any price and under certain circumstances would act, but he did not define the circumstances or indicate the possibilities of action.

Dulles said the Soviet Union is trying to realize Russia's traditional policy—going far back to Czarist days—of gaining control of the Middle East.

Earlier a high official of the U. S. State Department, which Dulles heads, declared that Russia and Syria have been given notice that America is willing and able to meet force with force.

Determination to use American power if it becomes necessary was proclaimed in a major speech Monday by the State Department's third-ranking official, Deputy Undersecretary Robert Murphy. He addressed the annual conference of U. S. mayors in New York City, saying:

"It would be unwise to underestimate the industrial and military power of our country, and to misinterpret our determination."

Officials said Murphy's speech was deliberately made to set the record straight so there would be no Communist miscalculation that the Middle East is a "weak spot," as Murphy put it, and ripe for plucking without American resistance.

Three factors figures in the timing, officials said. They were (1) failure to reach agreement with Russia at the London disarmament talks; (2) the Soviet Union's boastful announcement two weeks ago that it had successfully launched an intercontinental missile, coupled with more recent statements from Moscow that Russia could beat America in any nuclear war; and (3) stepped-up Communist penetration of the Middle East through power seizure and arms buildup in Syria.

AMERICAN officials noted that Russia followed its "missile announcement with a publicity campaign aimed at picturing America as a military weakening."

Only last Sunday Soviet air chief Konstantin A. Vershinin said Russia could destroy the United States and all its allies with smaller losses itself. Vershinin told the Soviet Communist paper Pravda that a Soviet H-bomb attack could inflict 50 million casualties on the United States.

Murphy said: "We have taken constant initiative to bring into being a comprehensive disarmament agreement with built-in safeguards. It is entirely possible that this initiative has been misinterpreted in some world areas as a decline in American power."

He mentioned big Soviet arms shipments to Syria, Egypt and Yemen, and to the arrival in the Middle East area of what he said were substantial numbers of Russian technicians.

"I think it should be said to those countries impressed by Soviet power politics and access to Soviet arms, Communist methods being what they are, they run the grave risk of absorption and loss of their independence," he said.

U.S., China Near Reporter Swap Plan

HONG KONG (AP)—The United States has opened the way for an exchange of reporters with Communist China and the matter "is now up to the Chinese government," Undersecretary of State Christian Herter said today.

The positions of the United States and of Red China on reciprocity in admitting newsmen are not far apart, Herter said.

When the State Department first announced U. S. reporters could go into China, Secretary Dulles said he would not permit Chinese newsmen to go to America. This policy apparently is being changed.

'Southeast' School Board Is Appointed

Five men were appointed last night by the Pickaway County Board of Education to serve as the school board for the newly created "southeast" school district comprising Washington, Pickaway, and Salscreek Townships. The appointments were announced at a special meeting of the county board in the courthouse offices of the superintendent of schools.

The members of the new board are Frank Graves, Route 1, Kingston; Dr. Wells Wilson, Route 1, Circleville; Dow O. West, Route 4, Circleville; Ralph E. Betz, Route 1, Stoutsville; and Dr. S. G. Measamer, 5 Bristol Court, Knollwood Village.

After making the appointments, the county board unanimously passed a resolution assigning all assets and all liabilities and indebtedness of the Washington, Pickaway, and Salscreek school districts to the new district.

The new school district officially came into being midnight Saturday when a 30-day remonstrance period expired without a protest petition being filed against the August 7 consolidation decision of the county board. At the same time, the school boards of the three original districts were automatically dissolved.

UNDER STATE LAW, the new appointments are only until January 1, 1958. A school board to serve after that date will be chosen by a write-in vote in the November general election. The present appointees will be eligible to receive write-in votes for regular school board terms.

Four of the new members had been serving previously on the original township boards. Graves and Dr. Wilson were members of the Pickaway board. West has served on the Salscreek board, and Ralph Betz had been a Washington board member and board clerk.

First meeting of the new board is scheduled for 8 p. m. tonight at the Salscreek School. Board members will take their oaths of office and elect a board president, vice-president and appoint a clerk.

Among the first official acts of the new board, will be the choice of a name for the school district which until now has been referred to only as the "southeast district."

In Washington, the U. S. Navy said none of its ships is operating close to the Syrian coast. A spokesman said the bulk of the U. S. 6th Fleet is in the Aegean Sea between Greece and Turkey, about 500 miles from Syria.

THE AMERICAN official said some U. S. destroyers might have been cruising in the eastern Mediterranean in recent days, but he asserted none had been in sight of the Syrian coast.

Syria's charge was linked with Secretary of State Dulles' statement Saturday. Dulles reported on a White House conference in which President Eisenhower urged the Syrian people to act to ease the fear of Communist-inspired attacks by Syria on its neighbors.

"No sooner was the Dulles statement on Syria announced," the Syrian spokesman said, "than provocative, irritating operations were begun with the aim of stirring Syria into taking such measures as to be used as a pretext to launch aggression against her."

The Syrian Foreign Ministry termed the U. S. statement an "open intervention in Syria's domestic affairs, thus flagrantly violating the U. N. charter."

Meanwhile, Jordan's foreign minister, Samir Rifai, said in Amman that Israel is a far greater threat to Jordan than Syria.

Rifai made the statement in reply to a question whether Jordan was alarmed by recent developments in Syria.

The foreign minister said Jordan does not "feel justified at all in interfering in the internal affairs of Syria."

But, he added, Jordan has been waging war against communism and "will continue to do so regardless of the direction from which it comes, internally or externally."

The charge that U. S. warships approached the Syrian coast was made by a Syrian army spokesman. He added that unidentified jet fighters flew over the Syrian port of Latakia Monday. He said some sailors were jailed and army officers transferred. Loyalty checks were ordered for all military personnel. Cuba generally is calm, except for scattered bombings.

U.S. Attorney Files Petition For Injunction

Arkansas Governor Accepts Summons for Hearing on Sept. 20

LITTLE ROCK, Ark. (AP)—A U. S. marshal passed through the main gate of the governor's mansion today with an order directing Gov. Orval Faubus to appear in U. S. District Court Sept. 20.

Troops guarding the mansion opened the gates for the officer.

The summons ordered the governor and two subordinates to come to court for a hearing on the issuance of a preliminary injunction restraining him from further interfering with enrollment of Negro students at Little Rock Central High School.

A federal authority said he understood the governor had agreed to answer summons but there was no confirmation from Faubus.

The marshal walked through the gate alone. Gov. Faubus came out and accepted the summons.

Named with Faubus were Arkansas Adj. Gen. Sherman T. Clinger, who carried out the governor's orders to put the school off limits to Negroes, and Lt. Col. Marion E. Johnson, head of the Guard detachment stationed at the school.

U. S. Atty. Gen. Herbert Brownell prepared the original petition in today's action. It was filed by Don B. McGuinness, Washington chief of the litigation bureau of the Justice Department.

Meanwhile, Faubus said "I would be willing to meet with anyone" to seek a solution to the bitter struggle over integrating high schools in the Little Rock area.

He said he would even be willing to meet with Eisenhower to seek solution of the stalemate caused when he ringed Little Rock's Central High School with the National Guard with orders to keep the peace, and incidentally, he says, keep Negroes out of classes.

HE ALSO said "I have a very strong feeling" that Federal Dist. Judge Ronald N. Davies was specifically selected by federal authorities and sent to Little Rock to stand by earlier integration orders. Davies is from North Dakota.

Asked if he felt his representatives had presented enough evidence to the FBI to support his action in calling out the Guard, he replied, "Sufficient to persuade any reasonable man."

The governor said he met with Justice Department representatives before the fall school term opened, discussed the situation with them, but did not tell them he planned to call out the Guard.

This morning as classes opened at 2,000-pupil Central High, the number of National Guardsmen appeared sharply reduced. Only 70 or 80 white demonstrators stood across from the campus.

An effigy of a Negro was hung during the night at North Little Rock High School, scene of racial violence Monday.

A heavy detail of officers guarded the 1,500-student North Little Rock High this morning. These included about 30 city police, a dozen or so deputy sheriffs and about a dozen state troopers.

THERE ARE two key questions still to be answered—Will the governor permit federal authorities to pass through the guards at the mansion and—personally serve him with notice of the restraining order?

If he refuses, what action will the federal government take against him?

At a press conference Monday, Faubus gave no indication of steps he may take when the injunction is issued.

"I have not received official notice of it and it will be a very important legal question," he said. "I'd like to see the official notice to see just what it involves."

Reporters asked what the troops guarding the mansion

ike Says Patience Vital in Race Fuss

NEWPORT, R. I. (AP)—President Eisenhower was quoted as saying today "patience is the important thing" in the government's efforts to resolve the school integration crisis in Little Rock, Ark.

The President's view was reported to newsmen by a Rhode Island Republican leader who conferred with Eisenhower shortly after the vacation White House announced the Justice Department will file "some time this afternoon" for a court injunction in the Little Rock case.

Acting on orders from U. S. Dist. Judge Ronald N. Davies, the department will seek to restrain Arkansas Gov. Orval E. Faubus from barring Negroes from Little Rock's Central High School.

Hagerty relayed a report on Brownell's plans to Eisenhower shortly before the President conferred with Bayard Rustin, Rhode Island's Republican national committeeman, and other GOP leaders from that state.

THE PRESIDENT then rode a Navy cabin cruiser across Narragansett Bay for another round of golf at Newport Country Club.

Ewing told newsmen outside the vacation White House that Eisenhower is "very much concerned" about the Little Rock situation.

The President was reported earlier to be determined to throw the full power of his office, if need be, into the showdown struggle between the State of Arkansas and the federal government.

But the President's vacation headquarters continued to refuse to shed any light on just how that power might be used if Faubus remains defiant.

What if Faubus and Arkansas guard officials whom Davies also ordered enjoined still stand in the way of mingling of white and Negro students?

Hagerty said only: "We're considering many things."

Another question was whether the President was putting "the full power and prestige of his office," behind Midge Davies, who at that point had not yet ordered the government to move for an injunction against Faubus.

Hagerty said the answer was "of course" if the question meant was the President supporting the federal court in whatever action it decided to order.

Three persons were slightly injured in a two-car collision today at 10:48 a. m. at N. Pickaway and Watt Sts.

Mrs. Edith Large, Route 1, Darbyville, a passenger in an auto driven by Clement O. Large, 46, same address, was taken to Berger Hospital for minor injuries.

The other vehicle was operated by Robert E. Kaiser, 17, Route 2, Ashville. He and a passenger, Jerry Ballard, same address, also were taken to the hospital.

According to police both drivers apparently thought the light was green and collided in the intersection. The mishap was investigated by Patrolmen Robert Temple and Roderick List.

The intoxicated driving cases were against Gardner L. Welsh Jr., 30, Route 3, Circleville, and Gerald Bauer, 19, Lockbourne Air Force Base. Each was fined $100 and costs, sentenced three days in jail and had his driver's license suspended for six months. Both were arrested by the sheriff's department.

Oliver Christian Jr., 21, Cleveland, paid $25 and costs for speeding at 75 miles per hour in a 50 mile zone. He was arrested by the State Highway Patrol.

Governors Split on Attitude Toward Arkansas Chieftain

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Some governors spoke out Monday against the actions of Arkansas Gov. Orval E. Faubus on the school integration issue, while others raised their voices in his defense. Numerous governors chose to remain silent on the issue.

One defender was Democratic Gov. Marvin Griffin of Georgia, who said he thought Faubus, in ordering the National Guard to keep Negroes out of a school where a federal court had ordered integration, was "on sound ground."

But at Madison, Wis., Gov. Vernon Thomson, Republican, said that "from here it (Faubus' action) appears to be a shocking disregard of lawful procedure."

"It is reminiscent of the stand of the South in the Civil War. It is difficult to understand."

Another Republican governor, Theodore McKeldin of Maryland, has said: "No member of the Maryland National Guard will ever be asked to cross his rifle at a schoolyard gate to bar the entrance of a little girl."

Among Democratic governors attacking Faubus' action were Gov. Averell Harriman of New York and Gov. Robert B. Meyner of New Jersey.

Harriman was one of the governors to whom Democratic Gov. Foster Furcolo of Massachusetts had proposed that a bipartisan committee of governors be named to seek a solution of the integration problem in Little Rock.

Furcolo said he made the proposal to Faubus, Harriman, Gov. G. Mennen Williams (D-Mich.), Gov. George Leader (D-Pa.), Gov. Orville L. Freeman (D-Minn.), Gov. William G. Stratton (R-Ill.), Gov. Thomas B. Stanley (D-Va.), and presidential aide Sherman Adams.

Leader commended the plan but declined to serve due to the pressure of his schedule. Leader had no immediate comment on the Little Rock situation.

Williams said at Lansing, Mich., that "it's unfortunate that things appear to have reached the stage where state governors have to undertake the solution of a problem which ought to be the responsibility of the President."

In Springfield, Ill., Stratton

would neither affirm nor deny that Furcolo had called him. Furcolo said he asked Stratton, chairman of the Governors' Conference, to appoint the committee. Stratton refused to comment on the Little Rock situation.

Many Southern governors declined to take a public stand on the issue. Among those were Gov. Stanley of Virginia, Gov. Leroy Collins of Florida, Gov. Luther Hodges of North Carolina, Gov. Price Daniel of Texas and Gov. Frank Clement of Tennessee.

South Carolina's Gov. George Bell Timmerman Jr. reiterated the stand he took in a telegram to Faubus Saturday, in which he said "I congratulate and commend you on the rightfulness of your position."

Republican Gov. Harold Handley of Indiana said he did not believe the Arkansas situation has reached the stage of a states' rights battle but was still a fight between the State of Arkansas and the federal judiciary.

Gov. A. B. Chandler of Kentucky said: "I sympathize with him and would help him if I could."

Runaway Girl Caught Here By Deputies

A pretty 14-year-old runaway girl from Tucson, Ariz., was picked up by the Pickaway County Sheriff's Department last night.

The girl was picked up by Deputy Sheriff John Wolford at the Ed Harver residence on Route 762. According to Harver she wandered to his home, saying that she had been in an auto accident and didn't know where she was.

Bringing her to the local jail for questioning, Wolford learned that the girl had run away from home August 15. She reportedly traveled to New Mexico and then to Kentucky and Ohio.

Deputy Dwight Radcliff telephoned the girl's grandmother in Tucson and verified identification. The youth's mother is scheduled to arrive here in a couple of days.

Deputy Wolford released the girl to the Juvenile Detention Center, Columbus, last night.

"We're up against thugs. This is the result of a flame that has been fanned in Nashville by some local agitators and some outside agitators."

"I hope this will at last waken the law abiding citizens of this community to the problem we're up against."

Oliver added that so far as he could say, the blast would not affect the school board's desegregation plan or operation of the schools of a desegregated basis.

Although numerous dynamite explosions have accompanied desegregation disorders in various other Southern cities, it is believed that no schools had previously been damaged by them.

Although surly crowds picketed five of the affected schools Monday, 115 city policemen patrolled them and intervened whenever violence threatened, averting major violence.

WHEN THE Negroes were admitted many white parents angrily removed their children from the schools. School Supt. W. A. Bass reported Monday night that attendance was off 30 per cent at the five schools.

Under the new first-grade zoning, a total of 126 Negroes were eligible to enter previously all-white schools, but most of them took advantage of voluntary transfer privileges.

Only 13 showed up to register for classes two weeks ago. Nineteen turned up for the first day of classes Monday. But four were not enrolled because of technicalities.

Violence continued immediately after school at Fehr with slashing of two tires on the automobile of the school's Negro janitor, Richard Hancock, 42, plus an attempt to set the interior afire.

About nightfall a sullen crowd began to gather at the school, apparently spontaneously, with a high percentage of teen-agers.

Soon afterward bottle and brick throwing began from the shadows along the street and a lookout system was organized for spotting Negroes' cars a block ahead.

When they came abreast the school bricks, rocks and bottles rained on them. One car was halted and rocked from side to side by a gang before being allowed to proceed.

Shortly afterward 25 policemen moved into the crowd and began to disperse it.

Man Faces Beating Count

Jack Junior Phillips, 25, Ashland, Ky., appeared today in Circleville Municipal Court on an accusation of beating and robbing an elderly Darbyville man.

Phillips was bound to the Pickaway County Grand Jury under $1,500 bond by Judge Sterling M. Lamb. He is accused of beating and robbing Seymour Hill, 75, in his Darbyville home several weeks ago.

The accused was returned here from Ashland by the sheriff's department. According to Deputy Dwight Radcliff, Hill was struck in the head with a whiskey bottle and robbed of $28.

Welcome Rain Finally Comes

The weatherman finally made good on his promise for rain. His prediction came true during the night and early this morning.

At 8 a. m. today, 10 inch was recorded. However, a considerable amount fell after this time, giving this area its best soaking for many days.

According to today's forecast more precipitation is expected tonight and possibly tomorrow.

Pair Facing Jury Action For Burglary

Clarence H. Price, 25, and Virgil Lane Jr., 22, Columbus, were bound to the Pickaway County Grand Jury today on an accusation of attempted burglary at the North Auto Theater on Route 23.

Bond for each was set at $3,000 by Municipal Judge Sterling M. Lamb. The men were apprehended early Saturday morning by Deputy Sheriffs Charles Felkey and John Wolford.

The two men were discovered in the theater's projection booth by owner William Ballou. They were apprehended about 10 minutes later after the owner notified the sheriff's department.

Wolford and Felkey said the accused ransacked a desk and several rooms and were in the process of forcing a cigarette machine. Both pleaded innocent to the accusation.

'Bama School Gets Threat

Birmingham Alerted
After Racial Display

BIRMINGHAM, Ala. (AP)—Phillips High School, scene of anti-integration violence Monday, was evacuated of its all-white student body of 2,400 today because of an anonymous bombing threat.

Calls both to central police headquarters and to the high school said a bomb had been placed in the block-square downtown building to go off at 9:39 a. m.

Fire bells rang at the school and the students marched out promptly. Police, on guard against any new violence or against any new attempt to enroll Negroes, blocked off the streets surrounding the school.

Meanwhile, tension was eased somewhat as the Rev. F. L. Shuttlesworth, pro-integration leader, beaten Monday as he sought to enroll four Negroes at Phillips, said he would make no such move today.

Shuttlesworth said he was confined to his bed on doctor's orders because of the beating.

THE PHILLIPS evacuation followed swiftly after police broke up a noisy anti-integration demonstration at Woodlawn High, in the eastern area.

About 75 to 100 Woodlawn students made up a shouting throng as they refused to attend classes. Some yelled "No Negroes will get by us." Police threatened to turn a fire hose on them and they marched away from the school.

A score or more of the Woodlawn demonstrators shortly appeared at Phillips, some three miles away, and were turned away by police.

As the 9:30 a. m. deadline for the bomb passed without incident, police entered the Phillips building and began a methodical search of the building.

Ohio Teacher Certification Rules May Be Overhauled

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—An overhaul of some major regulations governing teacher certification is being considered by the State Board of Education.

The board indicated at its regular meeting Monday night that it will adopt the proposed changes but called a mandatory public hearing on them for Nov. 12.

The changes, recommended by a subcommittee of the board, would:

Require a minimum of 17 hours and a maximum of 20 hours of professional educational courses for all high school teachers. There is not maximum now.

Require a minimum of 28 hours and a maximum of 34 semester hours of training in all institutions preparing elementary teachers. The present minimum of 28 hours would remain unchanged, but the maximum of 38 would be reduced by four.

Require principals and supervisors in elementary and high schools to have a year's classroom experience in the same type of school they are administering. The regulation requiring them to have three years successful classroom teaching, at any level, would continue.

Eliminate the present requirement for teachers to have dual certification—one for elementary and one for high school teaching. In other action, the board approved annexation of 1,308 acres of the Miami Trace district in Fayette County to the Washington Court House district. Approval came over the protest of Charles H. Fabb, Fayette County treasurer, who asked the board to take no action until a study is made of the possibility of establishing a single school district for the entire county.

The Miami Trace district now operates as the county district, and Washington Court House as the city district.

The board also approved recommendations of Dr. E. E. Holt, superintendent of public instruction, dealing with the annexation of school districts. The proposed policy would enable school districts to avoid loss of tax revenue by having county commissioners and city councils use certain provisions for conditional annexations pending decisions by the State Board on school annexation proposals.

Flu Shots for Babies Shunned by Doctors

COLUMBUS (AP)—State Health Director Dr. Ralph Dwork says medical authorities do not recommend giving Asian flu vaccine to babies under three months of age.

Children up to 12 should be given two vaccination shots one to two weeks apart. Persons over 13 need only one vaccination.

Dr. Dwork said thus far this year 282 cases of common influenza have been reported in Ohio as compared with 376 in 1956.

John J. Muccio, of North Providence, R. I., was named first United States ambassador to Iceland in 1955.

"Mary Haworth's Mail"

DEAR MARY HAWORTH: My wife and I have lived apart for eight years, and it is only during the last four years that she is speaking to me again.

I am 45 and my wife is 41. We were married 16 years ago and have two children—a son, age 14, and a daughter, 10.

When our daughter was six months old, my wife became mentally ill and turned against me and her mother. She had 20 shock treatments, which didn't help. Her mother blamed me for Jane's being ill and chased me out of the house. (We lived with her).

I tried to induce my wife to leave her mother's house; but she felt sorry about her mother's being a widow, and wouldn't go. For years she wouldn't speak to me either, but treats me civilly enough now, when I go to see our daughter. I've had the boy with me for the last two-and-a-half years.

The present problem is—I've met a girl I love and would like to marry. She knows the situation. I've been told that I can't get a divorce or annulment in this state. I've given my wife money each week through the court of domestic relations, and I keep the children clothed. Until two years ago I bought Jane's clothes also.

I need guidance. This girl will live with me even though I don't get a divorce—even though we know it is wrong.

A.R.

DEAR A.R.: You seem to be going from bad to worse in your conduct of life—taking no profit from your blunders. As for this girl you love, who knows the situation and proposes to live with you outside of marriage if she can't do better—well, she isn't bringing you any happiness. Of that you may be sure. There is a saying that "God is not mocked." Which, freely translated, means that you can't break the laws of life, pertaining to the "directing" of human nature, and get away with it, in terms of paying no penalty.

On the contrary, the laws of righteousness, embodied in the example and teachings of Jesus Christ, who came into the world to spell out for us the significance of human history—these laws are immutable. They are part-and-parcel of the divine ordination concerned with the shaping of human destiny.

You can't break these laws by going against them. They break you, in terms of sifting your presumably gain to dust and ashes, in the final analysis. They leave you bankrupt of happiness, merit, peace of soul, and the like—when, as and if you attempt to live in defiance of them.

Years ago, a man dropped into my office to discuss his hard-won philosophy of constructive living. Then in his latter thirties, he was coping with the net results of an unfortunate marriage. Separated from his wife, he was trying to learn from his mistakes and eventually do better.

More or less inevitably, I suppose, he'd been confronted with love of another woman, in the wake of his marital failure. But, as he explained it, speaking of his firm decision to stay out of such emotional involvements until his life was on a good foundation—"After investing considerable time and money in psychiatric study of my difficulties, I now recognize the folly of starting a new fire (of trouble), while I am also fire-fighting a past mistake."

I think the same moral applies to your situation.

Young Tommy Sands Looming As Tops among Singing Idols

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—"I'm not the handsomest guy in the world. There are lots of others who can sing better and act better. That's why it's best for me to plan my career as carefully as I can."

This is the modest statement of jet-jawed, eager Tommy Sands, 20-year-old singing sensation. He's a bundle of ambition, and no wonder—he was a flop for nine whole years!

"Ever since I was 11, I wanted to get ahead in show business," he said. "I tried everything—singing, acting, writing songs. Nothing worked."

"When I was in school, I wouldn't listen to the teacher. I'd be busy trying to write a song at my desk. About two days before the test I'd start paying attention and cram enough to pass."

Tommy's luck started to change one night when he was singing in a Houston dance hall. "Colonel" Tom Parker, who was then managing Eddy Arnold, heard the lad sing and figured him as a comer.

The Colonel started managing another singer named Presley, but he remembered Tommy and tossed him an occasional job.

Last January, Presley was sought for an hour-long TV drama, "The Singing Idol." He was tied up in a picture, so Parker suggested Tommy Sands.

Tommy was a sensation. Whammo, everything started happening to him! He was signed by Capitol Records. His first record, "Teenage Crush," sold more than a million copies. He made guests appearances on a dozen TV shows. He drew screaming mobs at the Roxy Theater in New York.

He was signed to a contract by 20th Century-Fox and now he's starring in a film version of "The Singing Idol."

Tommy said he isn't going for the quick buck by taking all the appearances and movies that are offered him.

"I'd rather go out and do 20 or 30 one-nighters with a well-round-

French Designer's 1925 Duds Lauded as 'Modern' Fashion

By DOROTHY ROE

Associated Press Women's Editor
Tiny, ageless and twinkling Gabrielle Chanel is having the last laugh this week, and enjoying it thoroughly.

It should hand a few chuckles to any designer to see the silhouette she launched more than 30 years ago hailed as the greatest trend in this year of the atomic age, 1957.

The dark-eyed French woman arrived in this country last week to receive the top honors of the world of high fashion. In New York she was feted by all the bigwigs of the fashion press. Then she went on to Dallas, to receive the highly coveted Neiman-Marcus Fashion Award—this year's only recipient. The only other person to receive a solitary award from the Dallas store was Adrian, in 1943. Even Christian Dior, voted the award in 1947 for his revolutionary "New Look," had to share honors with others.

The great Chanel turned up to receive her plaudits dressed just as she was back in 1925—in the sweater top, the pearls, the pleated skirt that panicked the flappers of the jazz age and now are hailed as the last word—the greatest, the most—by their daughters.

It is because of Chanel that college girls are going back to school this fall in middie tops and pleated skirts, that women of fashion are going in for the "relaxed look" and the "casual approach."

It was also because of Chanel that the entire fashion world did a flip-flop back in the flapper era, and women suddenly discarded girdles, rolled their stockings, shortened their skirts, threw away their belts, went in for the boyish look and learned the Charleston.

Chanel was born in Auvergne, France, started her working career as a milliner at Deauville in 1914 and became the greatest and best-known dress designer in Paris in the twenties and thirties. At one time her salon on the Rue Cambon had 26 workrooms and fabric house and perfume laboratories which turned out a scent that still is the favorite of many women all over the world—Chanel No. 5.

When World War II blasted Europe in 1939, Chanel retired as a designer and shut up shop, except for her perfume business. She stayed in retirement for 15 years and then came back to set the fashion world on its ear again in 1954.

Today the Chanel Look is simply the only way to look, if you're going to be in fashion.

Pay-TV Now on Trial

All eyes in the television business and in the movie industry are now focused on Bartlesville, Okla. The reason: Tele-movies, or "TM" for short.

The Oklahoma city of 28,000, center of an important oil industry, was selected by the television and movie businesses for an experiment to determine the acceptance of possible "toll television." Also to be checked will be its effect on TV as now offered in other cities throughout the nation.

The way it operates is this: First-run movies are piped into 300 home television sets by coaxial cable from noon to midnight. These are in black and white. Use of the cable instead of air waves permits experimentation with the system without clearance from the Federal Communications Commission which rules the radio and television waves and is bogged down in all sorts of red tape.

The charge to homeowners participating is $9.50 a month for each set. Considerably more than 300 subscribers will be needed in Bartlesville to put toll movies on a paying basis.

The big question is what viewers' reactions will be. Will Bartlesville citizens desert the three channels of free television available to them to "buy" the movies? If they do, there is no doubt that tele-movies will be offered in other cities.

If they prefer to stick with the network shows, backers of toll television on a broad scale would seem to have no alternative but to abandon their plans.

Anti-Missile Missile Urgent

An English newspaper the other day made this rather tart comment:

"To say that America has more hydrogen bombs than Russia or that Russia soon will have more rockets than America is as rational as it would be for India to boast of having more Asian flu than anyone else."

This is true. But, unfortunately, these "boasts" are part of the world today. They must be considered because they are part of the worldwide propaganda battle that both sides in the cold war are waging.

Perhaps more attention should be focused on defensive measures, however. And in this light the statement made by Gen. Earl E. Partridge that scientists say the "anti-missile missile" now is technically possible is interesting.

It sounds impossible to the layman. But many other "impossible" devices have been perfected in the past few years.

If the United States could develop a system of protection against what has been called the "ultimate weapon," then all the world would praise this country. Not that this would erase the horrors of a future war. But it would give the common folk of the world some hope that not all is lost.

Disarmament is the only long-term solution to the missile and hydrogen bomb (and all other arms) races. But it seems beyond reach at this time. Until there is some real substance in it, there is every reason to push ahead on a "crash" basis if necessary to develop the anti-missile missile.

Go to Theater for Laundry

By Hal Boyle

NEW YORK (AP)—Things a columnist might never know if he didn't open his mail:

That a theater in South Africa beat the boxoffice slump by providing laundry service for its patrons. When they emerge from the movie, the week's washing is finished and ready to take home.

That in some parts of Alaska, where the temperature drops to 60 below zero housewives have found the best place to keep food "warm" is in the refrigerator.

That heat travels faster than cold — which may explain why it's so easy for anyone to catch cold.

That Arthur Murray tells of the farmer who took dancing lessons by mail for six months, then wrote: "Have finished your course. Please send partner."

That the British army lists the 64 Barbary apes on Gibraltar as "gunners" and issues them special army rations. The reason: Legend has it that Britain will hold Gibraltar as long as the apes remain there.

That there's a nonsinkable golf ball on the market now for players who like to play water shots.

That a guy parked outside of Walsh's Steak House had a shoe tied to the rear bumper and a sign attached to it: "Just divorced."

That 33 of the 48 states have Indian names.

That during the middle ages a female bigamist was sentenced to wear two pairs of men's breeches around her neck for the rest of her life.

That Frederick the Great cured his soldiers of wiping their nose on their sleeves by placing rows of buttons on the sleeve and tailors have followed the custom ever since.

That during frontier fighting after the Revolutionary War, Indians would taunt a captive white settler by asking "So you want more land?" and then stuff his mouth with dirt.

That the Empire State Building and Rockefeller Center are Manhattan's favorite sightseeing spots. A generation ago they were Grant's Tomb and the World's Fair.

That Chek-Ro, the new board game popular with our straphanger intellectuals, is actually an ancient Oriental game known as "go" in Japan.

That the black widow spider gets her name from her nervous habit of sometimes eating her spouse. You can never tell what a nervous female will do.

"Now, this may hurt a little . . . how old are you?"

Try and Stop Me

By BENNETT CERF

JOHN STRALEY tells about a handyman who developed a powerful yen for a pair of fawn-colored slacks in his boss' wardrobe and, figuring they would be given to him eventually, resolved to help things along a bit. He rubbed some grease into them in two prominent places, then told the owner, "Nothing I tries gits out the spots. Reckon you can't wear them pants no more."

"Funny," mused the owner. "Have you tried ammonia?"

"I sure has," grinned the handyman, "and they fits like a glove."

A woman nearing 80 signed up for a secretarial course in the Midwest. "I'm determined to read my husband's diary," she explained. "For 59 years he's been keeping it in shorthand."

Billy Reid points out one more difference between a pessimist and an optimist. The former says, "I'm in a rut," the latter, "I'm in the groove!"

Eye Defects Start Early

By Herman N. Bundesen, M.D.
Ever hear of "school myopia"? It's a hazard of our modern-day educational procedures and is one of the major causes of eye trouble among youngsters.

Seeing and hearing difficulties of such children, I contend, are behind a good deal of our juvenile delinquency problems.

The human eye finds its difficulty to cope with today's demands for intricate near-point tasks with inadequate indoor light. Its natural aptitude is for simple farpoint jobs in full daylight.

Near sightedness, farsightedness, lack of depth perception, one-eyed seeing, glaucoma—these are among the most common visual difficulties found in children.

While we believe that some nearsightedness is caused by the shape of the eyeball, another type, "school myopia," comes from excessive close work. Statistics show that the percentage of nearsighted pupils increases steadily from grade to grade.

From 20 to 40 per cent of our children in kindergarten through sixth grade have some sort of eye trouble. Some of these youngsters eventually will become blind if they don't get help.

Children with eye difficulties

The World Today

By James Marlow

WASHINGTON (AP)—Federal Judge Ronald N. Davies, representing the power of the federal government in dealing with states, has met the challenge of Gov. Orval Faubus of Arkansas by moving toward a showdown.

Although Davies—in accordance with the Supreme Court's ban on public school segregation—had ordered Little Rock's Central High integrated, Faubus used the state's National Guard to keep Negro children out of the school. Faubus said he wasn't defying the judge but just trying to prevent disorder and bloodshed. He said a majority of the people of Little Rock opposed integration.

Twice again last week, after the troops kept the Negroes out, Davies ordered integration to proceed. But Faubus held the guard around the school.

No matter what Faubus' stated purpose was, the net effect of his use of the troops was to interfere with the court's order to integrate the school. If Faubus could do this with impunity, all other Southern governors could do likewise.

And, if they did, the Supreme Court's ban on segregation would have no meaning. But that court's decision has the force of federal law. If state governors could nullify federal law, there would be a crisis in government.

Monday Davies directed the U.S. attorney general and the U.S. attorney at Little Rock to prepare injunction proceedings against Faubus and commanding officers of the Guard to stop their interference with school integration.

Ordinarily, this is the procedure:

1. The attorney general, acting promptly and to take steps to correct it.

Question and Answer
C. F. I have heard that even once it is cured, mental illness will recur and can never be permanently cured. Is it true?

Answer: There have been many instances where mental illness has been permanently cured.

in the public interest as the judge sees it, lays down reasons why a temporary injunction or restraining order should be issued. The judge can, if he chooses, grant the injunction or order without a hearing. They are similar, but sometimes both the restraining order and the temporary injunction are used as separate steps.

2. Then—usually within 10 days—he issues an order to the one against whom the temporary injunction has been granted to show cause why a permanent injunction shouldn't be issued against him.

3. This show-cause order is delivered by a U.S. marshal.

4. Then the person given the show-cause order can appear before the judge to present his side of the case, fully and in open court, to argue against both the temporary and permanent injunctions.

5. The judge, hearing both sides, then decides whether to issue a permanent injunction.

But this is where the story becomes complex and unpredictable.

Take it step by step. Davies can issue a temporary injunction, ordering Faubus not to use the troops to keep the Negroes out of school. If Faubus obeys, he is next served with the show-cause order by a U.S. marshal.

(If he should use troops around his mansion to keep the marshal out, and refuse to present his side of the case, the judge still could issue the permanent injunction without him.)

But suppose Faubus doesn't want to obey the temporary injunction. He can go over Davies' head to the U.S. Court of Appeals, asking it to stay Davies' temporary injunction. If he wins, the situation is back where it started before Davies issued the temporary injunction.

But suppose he tries the appellate court and loses — or just doesn't bother going there — and, disobeying Davies' temporary injunction, still holds troops around the school to keep the Negroes out.

What then? Davies could cite him for contempt for ignoring or disobeying the temporary injunction. Then he could try Faubus for civil contempt and clap him in jail until he obeyed or try him for criminal contempt and give him a flat jail sentence for disobedience.

But that raises a question: Suppose Faubus ignored the temporary injunction by keeping troops around the school and then refused to go or let himself be taken to court to face trial on contempt charges.

The judge could try and sentence him in absentia. But how could the sentence be carried out if Faubus kept himself surrounded by guardsmen? The Eisenhower administration would have to worry about that one.

The judge has no force, except for U.S. marshals, to bring anyone to court. But Eisenhower has said he would uphold the Constitution, which includes doing what is necessary to carry out the Supreme Court's ban on public school segregation.

Censorship vs Criticism

By George Sokolsky

The "Confidential" trial creates no new atmosphere in Hollywood; publicity men have long attracted attention to the peccadilloes of their clients to make them increasingly attractive to customers who prefer their celebrities to be wicked. Or so they, the publicity men and their employers, believe.

When a volunteer group undertook to drive the Communists out of Hollywood, the management and various guilds of the motion picture profession fought back on the ground that art is unrelated to politics and that freedom of expression included motion pictures which is a commercial enterprise designed to earn money for those in the trade. Therefore when the protest against Communist infiltration into Hollywood became so serious that it could be counted at the boxoffice, some of management agreed to a process of cleaning out the stable.

Unfortunately many in management were swindlers. They secretly employed the Communists under false names. They subsidized foreign movies where the American Communists found work under assumed names. They convinced some of the opportunists to swear repentance, knowing that not a word of it was true.

In the end, the Communists won the battle and they are back on the job in Hollywood, and in television, building their party's treasury out of the money paid by their opponents. It is an amazing picture of persistence and cooperation.

Meanwhile, the industry is generally speaking in an unfortunate financial situation, largely due to television and to the inability of young people to pay the box office price for trivial, unexciting pictures.

"Confidential" was involved in a libel suit and the trial has been more ugly than anything that appeared in that unpalatable magazine. It has been both a shameful and a shameless performance and does raise the question as to whether the "celebrities" are worthy heroes and heroines for the children of the nation who now see them not only in dark theaters but in the home where a wise kid, who is not a square, can recite a star's wickednesses and marriages, as in another century such a child could list the Presidents of the United States in order. When a hero looks, in real life, like a bum, and a heroine like a silly free-for-all, the kids are psychologically damaged.

Walter Kerr, drama critic of the New York Herald Tribune, issued a little book in 1956, entitled "Criticism and Censorship," in which he opposes censorship and pleads for unfettered art. Kerr is a Roman Catholic and in this book, speaks as such. He says:

"When the Catholic turns to criticism, then, he does not content himself with forming an aesthetic evaluation of the object at hand. He feels an additional obligation to make a guess — he hopes it will be an informed one — about the work's subsequent influence on the behavior of the reader. More than that. He tells the reader whether or not he ought to read it. He thus assumes, above and beyond his role as critic, the role of censor. He is, in effect, critic and censor rolled into one—and, at the last, it is in his role of censor that he hands down his verdict."

But am I, as a free man, to refrain from saying that I dislike a picture, a book, a play, a song for whatever reason I dislike them? It may be an aesthetic reason, in which case Kerr would say it could be criticism; but if the reason for dislike is moral, a rejection of the indecent, a denunciation of the false—then it is censorship. If so, we are all censors, for even in our conversations that is precisely what we do.

'Obsolescence' To be Gimmick For TV Trade

Makers and Dealers Prime Campaign for Tradein of Models

NEW YORK (AP) — The harried television set makers and dealers are going to try a new gimmick. It's right out of Detroit — or maybe the fashion salons of Paris. And its name is obsolescence.

They would like several million American families to decide their old sets are obsolete and poor things indeed compared to the one the Joneses are sporting.

For years the auto makers have thrived on convincing Americans that their old cars when parked alongside the neighbors' new ones made the family lose social standing.

Way before that the women's apparel industry learned how to make wives unhappily sure that last year's wardrobe was unfit to be seen in public.

Now the TV industry is going to try the same thing. It's kicking off a drive this week to stress that it's now 10 years since there was general consumer acceptance of TV and that the first ones were postage stamp size and mechanically inferior to today's models.

In that decade 50 million sets have been sold and James D. Secrest, of Washington, executive vice president of the Radio Electronics and TV Manufacturers Assn., estimates that about 44 1/2 million of these are still in use.

So you can see why the TV industry frets about reaching the saturation point and eyes replacement longingly.

Saturation isn't the industry's only problem. Sales have been sticky, inventories troublesome, and at times over-production has led to manufacturing fatalities.

There's a big rumble building up over TV vs. free TV. There's the chronic dispute over color vs. black and white.

But right now the manufacturers and retailers are sweeping all those problems under the rug and uniting in a drive to get more two-set homes, or even three-set families.

The idea they'd like to sell you is: the children should have a portable, dad should have a table model away from the family to watch sports in peace, and mother should have one of the new, trimmer and better styled consoles to improve the living room decor.

Secrest estimates this year's production of sets at seven million, down nearly a half million from last year, but with portables showing a big gain this year and now accounting for 28 per cent of the total.

Slayers of Amish Farmer To Undergo Mental Examination

MILLERSBURG, Ohio (AP)—Two accused slayers of an Amish farmer will undergo examinations at Lima State Hospital this week after Monday entering pleas of innocent due to insanity.

The two, Michael George Dumoulin, 20, Wooster, Ohio, and Cleo Eugene Peters, 19, Muscatine Iowa were charged with first degree murder in the fatal shooting of Paul M. Coblenz, 25, an Amish farmer of near Mount Hope July 18.

Authorities said Coblenz was slain while he and his wife were being robbed in their home. Mrs. Coblenz was beaten when the assailants failed to rape her. The robbery netted about four dollars, officers said.

Dumoulin and Peters were arrested near Toulon, Ill., four days after the slaying.

Weathermen Select Names For This Year's Hurricanes

By JANE EADS

WASHINGTON (AP) — Come what blows, the boys who have taken to christening each year's crop of hurricanes are all ready with catchy girls' names from Audrey to Zita for the 1957 season.

Twenty-six names in alphabetical order are selected each year in advance of the tropical storm season by Weather Bureau, Air Force and Navy meteorologists. The Weather Bureau says it never expects to use more than half the names, though one year there were 21 storms.

Though the first violent storm came earlier than expected, to Louisiana, the boys were ready with the name Audrey. Audrey's sister, Bertha, made a mild pass at the same coastal region. Other hurricanes will be named as they show up—Carrie, Debbie, Esther, Frieda, Gracie, Hannah, Inga, Jessie, Kathie, Lisa, Margo, Netty, Odelle, Patty, Quinia, Roxie, Sandra, Theo, Undine, Venus, Wenda, Xmay, Yasmine and Zita.

All are legitimate names, says the Weather Bureau, and that includes Xmay. One of the meteorologists knows of a girl with that name.

The bureau says names of particular persons are not used, though it gets plenty of suggestions along that line. All suggestions are considered, but the hurricane-namers will stick to using girls' names that are "short, clearly pronounceable, quickly recognized and easy to remember."

Suggestions sent to the bureau have urged the hurricanes be named for Numbers One, Two, Three, etc.; letters A,B,C; the Greek Alphabet, Alpha, Beta, Gamma; or boys names, Arthur, Ben, Christopher; or by the phonetic alphabet adopted by military services during World War II, Able, Baker, Charlie, etc.

The naming of hurricanes after girls came into general practice during World War II, though several hundreds of years ago many hurricanes in the West Indies were named after the particular saint's day on which they struck. The girls' names were found to be shorter, quicker, and less confusing than the older more cumbersome latitude and longitude identifications.

In the past, the bureau says, confusion and false rumors have arisen when storm advisories broadcast from one station were mistaken for warnings concerning an entirely different storm located hundreds of miles away.

WASHINGTON (AP) — Old grads of earlier days and harder times are going to find this hard to believe, but a brand new evil has reared its ugly head on college campuses across the nation.

Employers are using high pressure to get trained students to accept jobs. The U. S. Chamber of Commerce thinks something ought to be done about it.

The chamber takes a dim view of such practices as bidding up the salaries offered by competing firms, elaborate entertainment of prospective student employees, special payments or other gifts, using faculty members to influence the students and letting students pad their expense accounts when visiting company plants.

The chamber and the College Placement Council, Inc., have published a small booklet called "Principles and Practices of College Recruiting." It forms a sort of code of ethics for all colleges and employers, including government agencies.

Here are some do's and don'ts from the booklet: Recruiting literature should be free of exaggeration.

No special financial incentives should be given to influence a student's consideration of an employer's offer. This includes the padded expense account item, as well as scholarship aid that carries a commitment to accept employment on completion of study.

Drama on FDR Being Readied

Broadway Scheduled To See Play in Winter

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Is the nation ready for a drama about Franklin D. Roosevelt?

Dore Schary thinks so, and he has written one which he'll co-produce on Broadway this winter and later make into a movie. It's called "Sunrise at Campobello," and it's Schary's first project since exiting as production boss at MGM.

It's no secret that Schary has been one of Hollywood's heartiest campaigners for the Democratic party. But he claimed that all shades of political belief could enjoy the play.

"Even those who disliked Roosevelt will have to admit after seeing his ordeal that here is a man with a lot of guts," Schary declared. "No one, not even his biggest detractors, ever claimed that he felt sorry for himself."

The play occupies three years of FDR's life, from the summer of 1921 vacation at Campobello Island, New Brunswick, Canada, when he was stricken with polio, to his nomination of Al Smith for the presidency in 1924.

Schary discussed the play with the Roosevelt family and got a go-ahead. He then took his family to Europe and researched the project between sightseeing.

Though it had been 18 years since he wrote a play, he found the writing easy. He finished it here, then took it East for a very special audition — before Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt.

Her comment: "I can't tell you if the play is good or bad, because I'm not a judge of plays. But I can tell you this, and it is remarkable: it sounds like Franklin."

"Sunrise at Campobello" will open in New Haven, Conn., Dec. 26, play two weeks apiece in Boston and Philadelphia and debut in New York on FDR's birthday, Jan. 30.

Half of U.S. Family Incomes Found To Be Above $4,783

WASHINGTON (AP) — Half of all American families had a total income of $4,783 or more during 1956, an increase of 8 per cent over 1955, the government reported today.

The Census Bureau said its figures were based on a median, or numerical middle, rather than an average. In other words, half the families in the United States made more than $4,783 and the other half made less. No true average could be determined since exact figures were not asked of families reporting total income of $15,000 or more.

The median for city dwellers moved up over the year from $4,840 to $5,221. For nonfarmers it jumped from $4,328 to $4,619 and for farmers it moved from $2,111 to $2,371.

A Census Bureau spokesman said the increase in farm income was tied directly to nonfarm activities. He said there is evidence that more and more farmers are spending more and more time working off the farm.

The nonfarm rise in income of about 8 per cent was attributed largely to higher wage scales. The government report said that of the nation's 43 million families, 3 million or about 8 per cent had incomes of $10,000 or more in 1956 and 900,000 or about 2 per cent had incomes of $15,000 and up.

At the other end of the income scale, about seven million families, or 20 per cent of the total had incomes under $2,000. Nearly three million, or 7 per cent had incomes under $1,000. Sixteen million families, or about 36 per cent, were in the $2,000 to $5,000 bracket.

The 1956 median income figure of $4,783 compares with the 1952 figure of $3,890. In 1952, the median farm income was $2,226, about $125 higher than last year. The city family figure rose from $4,249 over the five-year period to $5,221 and the rural nonfarm figure rose from $3,720 to $4,619.

Is it Really Goodbye?

This little girl may never see her mother again.

She could be your child.

Or you could be behind the wheel of the car that snaps the thread of her life, or scars and maims and pains her until the end of her days.

It's not pleasant to think about it — but it IS time to think about it.

Every morning, millions of freshly-scrubbed little girls and boys set out for school—memory work done, written work ready to hand in, some with an apple for teacher and none with a care in the world. And every evening, some of them fail to come home. They've said their last goodbye to "Mommie."

During the last school year, over 3,000 children of kindergarten age through fourteen were killed in accidents involving motor vehicles, and the National Safety Council estimates that more than 150,000 others were injured. Legally, in many cases, it was "their fault." This doesn't make the tragedy any less. And besides, when children are hurt, it's never really "their fault." Children aren't accountable for the grim things in life. They're made for laughter and fun and love.

Every person who drives a car should think about this. Drive carefully, for in a careless moment, you may take away a small life . . . break a mother's and father's heart . . . and break your own heart, too.

MRS. RICHARD LIND DUNHAM

Miss Lutz Becomes Bride Of Mr. Richard Dunham

Couple to Live In Cambodia

Simplicity marked the charming open church wedding of Miss Evelyn Lutz and Mr. Richard Lind Dunham which took place at 4:30 p. m. Monday in St. Philip's Episcopal Church. The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Fickardt, 356 E. Main St., and the bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Norton Dunham, 22 Dake Ave., Rochester, N. Y.

The Rev. Jack C. Bennett performed the double ring ceremony before an altar decorated with arrangements of flowers in the altar vases and flanked by candelabra with white tapers. The flowers were white gladioli, white carnations, white daisy type chrysanthemums and tuberoses.

A program of organ music was presented by Mrs. Betty Goodman prior to the ceremony.

The bride, who approached the altar on the arm of her brother, Mr. William E. Lutz, wore a gown fashioned of Chantilly lace and nylon highlighted by a portrait neckline and brief sleeves. The bouffant ballerina length skirt of tulle over satin was accentuated by a band of Chantilly lace half way to the hemline.

Her elbow length veil of imported French silk illusion was caught to a cap of lace edged with tiny seed pearls and iridescents.

Her cascade bouquet was centered with a white orchid, surrounded by white carnations and tuberoses intermingled with ivy and maline. Tuberoses had been knotted into the shower of ribbons cascading from the bouquet.

The bride's twin sister, Miss Emily Eileen Lutz wore a ballerina length dress of Dior blue lace. She carried a cascade bouquet fashioned of sweetheart rosebuds, pink tea roses, light pink carnations intermingled with tuberoses. The other attendant was little Miss Melanie Beth Brehmer who was attired in pink and carried a basket filled with Sweetheart rosebuds, daisy type chrysanthemums and tuberoses. She wore a crownlet of pink flowers.

The best man was Mr. H. Sidney Duncombe, Columbus, Ushers were Mr. Robert L. Brehmer Jr., Mr. David L. Yates and Mr. Charles G. Will.

Following the wedding a reception was held at the Pickaway Country Club. The table was centered with the tiered wedding cake flanked by white tapers in arrangements of pink carnations, white snapdragons, white daisy type chrysanthemums and tuberoses.

The mantle arrangement in the reception room corresponded with the pink and white flowers on the refreshment table. There was also an arrangement on the table holding the punchbowl. This consisted of white tuberoses and white carnations.

Assisting hostesses at the reception were Mrs. William E. Lutz, Mrs. Robert L. Brehmer Jr. and Mrs. David Yates.

The bride is a graduate of Circleville High School and Ohio State University. The bridegroom, a graduate of Rochester University, is a member of Psi Upsilon Fraternity.

After the wedding trip to Williamsburg and Jamestown, Va., the couple will live in Phnom-Penh, Cambodia, where Mr. Dunham will work with the Cambodian government as a representative of the U. S. Foreign Service.

Rainy day fun: Make up a batch of cookie dough and cut it out in the shape of gingerbread men. Have candied cherries, raisins and dates on hand so small fry can decorate the cookies before they go into the oven.

Roundtown Garden Club Hears Mrs. Barnhart

Twelve Members Attend New Club

The Roundtown Garden Club met Monday evening at the home of Mrs. Ronald List with twelve members attending.

Mrs. Emmett Barnhart spoke to the club on Chrysanthemums and Color in Flower Arrangements. She brought out in her talk that cuttings should be made of Chrysanthemums around May 15th and should be set in a sandy soil. In about two weeks roots will have begun to sprout and they should be reset in your garden.

Chrysanthemums should be watered only once a week with a good soaking and should have good drainage. She brought out many interesting facts on the growth and care of Mums.

She showed a color chart, explaining what was meant by a Monochromatic, Complementary, Split Complementary and analogous Color Schemes. She demonstrated the use of these color schemes by showing flower arrangements following the themes of the Pickaway County Fair Flower Show.

Mrs. Barnhart invited all the members of the Club to her home to see her Chrysanthemums when they are in bloom.

After the speaker, the president, Mrs. Wes Edstrom, Jr. asked for volunteers to help the Pickaway Garden Club with the Pumpkin Show flower displays.

All members were asked to be thinking about a good Civic Project for the club. It was decided that each member would keep a scrapbook of articles in magazines and newspapers, and when they are completed, they would be made into a library for them to take home and read.

A workshop will be held next month at the home of Mrs. Robert Younklin. All members are asked to bring some dried materials, a container, needlepoint and clay, or anything they may need to make an arrangement for themselves.

The wedding was held Sunday night at the Ohio Ave. Evangelical United Brethren Church, Columbus.

Mrs. E. W. Pickens will be the hostess when the Past Presidents Club meets at her home, 123 Pinckney St., at 7:30 p. m. Friday.

Mr. and Mrs. Norman MacNeil, Route 3, Circleville, plan to leave today for a visit with her brother-in-law and sister, Colonel and Mrs. William Cline, Atlanta, Ga.

Mr. and Mrs. Paul W. Crowley, Ashville, have returned from a visit of four weeks in the New England States. Most of the time was spent in Greenfield, Mass., with her brother and sister-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Sewell N. Dunton. They were also guests of Mrs. Crowley's nephew and family, Mr. and Mrs. Sewell Dunton Jr.

Mrs. Howard Orr, 303 S. Court St., has returned from Indian River, Mich., where she spent a vacation of several weeks.

Mrs. Rufus Van Fossen, Route 2, Circleville, and Miss Peggy Van Fossen, Tarleton, were in Augusta, Ga., recently for a weekend.

Mrs. Ruth E. Quince and daughter.

Two Doctors Plan Program

The Brotherhood meeting has been postponed to Sept. 19 at 7:30 p. m.

The program will be under the direction of Dr. V. D. Kerns and Dr. F. W. Anderson. A film "City Of The Sick" will be shown. This film is intended, first to help people understand mental illness in their own terms and, second, to make them feel and believe in treatment and recovery. A discussion period will give the men a chance to ask questions. All men of the church are invited.

ters have moved from 1033 Lynwood Ave. to 130 Seyfert Ave.

Mr. and Mrs. Dan Rudy and Miss Louise Rudy, Nashville, Tenn., have been guests of their cousin, Charlie Niles and family, Route 3, Circleville.

Mrs. H. O. Pile will have charge of the program when the Major John Boggs Chapter of the Daughters of 1812 meet at 2:30 p. m. Thursday at the home of Mrs. Clarabelle Hughes, 127 W. High St. The subject will be "Our Flag".

Judith Wharton Surprised on 11th Birthday

A surprise luncheon, held at the Pickaway Country Club marked the 11th birthday of Judith Ann Wharton. The luncheon table was centered with a birthday cake with pink and white icing and rosebuds. Following the same color scheme was an arrangement of white gladioli and pink rosebuds. Each guest received little wrist corsages made with a lacy background, pompons and blue ribbons.

Guests included: Pamela Speakman, Norma Ruth Troutman, Sally Griner, Antoinette Wojciak, Jessica Peart, Karen Chilikowsky and Mona Dawson.

Mrs. George Wharton was assisted by Mrs. T. D. Banks and Marsha Sue Wharton in planning the luncheon for her daughter.

Gulick Reunion To be Sunday

Guy Gulick, Orient will preside at the business session when the Gulick family reunion is held Sunday at 12:30 p. m. in Grove City Community Park Shelter House. Gulick is president of the group.

This Is Week Yankees Win Or Lose Flag

They've Won, Lost
Pennant Several Times This Year

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
This is the week the New York Yankees "win" the 1957 American League pennant for a fourth time—or perhaps lose it for good. It's also a week in which the National League race could tighten because Milwaukee's first-place Braves are loose.

Everyone knew the Yankees had done it again when they took three of four from the Chicago White Sox in late June.

In short, the Yankees won the flag June 23.

Trouble was, the White Sox didn't die. By the middle of July they were just two games back after beating the Yankees in the first game of a double-header at Chicago. But the Sox blew the nightcap and that did it.

In short, the Yankees won the flag July 14.

Trouble was, the White Sox didn't die. They were just 3½ games behind by late August and the Yankees were in a slump. So the Yankees "slumped" to a three-game sweep for a 6½-game bulge.

In short, the Yankees won the flag on Aug. 29.

Trouble was, the White Sox didn't die. Fact is, it's the Yankees who are being checked for signs of life these days after losing 6 of 11 since that "clinching" sweep at Chicago.

With the White Sox, now 5½ back, due for a two-game set at Yankee Stadium this weekend, it appears Manager Casey Stengel is through playing cat and mouse.

Of course Sal Maglie and the Yankee dollar got him from Brooklyn to help a pitching staff that at the moment has managed only three complete games in the last 21. But with sore-arm Whitey Ford apparently back in shape, things look good enough on the mound and Stengel has turned to strengthening his "unbeatable" bench.

Mickey Mantle is out of the hospital, but still uncertain because of shin splints; Yogi Berra is out with a bruised and swollen, but not broken, right thumb, and Hank Bauer's cracked thumb is on the mend. So the Yankees have picked up a pair of outfielder-pinch hitters in Bobby Del Greco, the good-field-no-hit kid from Pittsburgh via St. Louis, Chicago and Montreal, and John (Zeke) Berra, who hit .309 at Denver.

Both will be on hand tonight when the Yankees open their last home stand against the West with Cleveland. The White Sox, who play 14 of their remaining 19 games on the road while the Yankees play 13 of their 16 at home, are at Boston tonight.

In the NL, Milwaukee and second-place St. Louis make their final stands against the East with the Braves insisting "we're not feeling any pressure" in answer to queries on how they managed to lose three games from their ½-game Labor Day lead.

The Braves play Pittsburgh tonight while the Cardinals, with Stan Musial still sidelined because his ailing shoulder tightened up after a pinch-hit job Sunday, meet Philadelphia. The Dodgers, seven games back, are at Chicago.

3 Men Die in Crash Monday Near Oak Hill

JACKSON (AP)—Three men were killed Monday when their automobile collided head-on with a heavy truck east of Oak Hill.

They were identified as Charles Schwab, 23, New Boston, and Richard E. Boggs, 24, and Charles A. Darby, 22, both of Portsmouth.

'Torpid' Sees Poor Name For Favorite in Brown Jug

DELAWARE, Ohio (AP)—The greatest misnomer ever handed a harness horse is "torpid."

The dictionary defines "torpid" as: "having lost motion, or the power of exertion; dormant; numb; lacking in energy or vim; inert; dull; stupid; apathetic."

But Torpid, amazing son of Knight Dream and odds-on favorite to capture the 12th annual Little Brown Jug for three-year-old pacers here Sept. 19, is the antithesis of the entire definition.

The bay colt, owned by Max Hochberg's Sherwood Farm of Irvington, N. J., and trained and driven by 38-year-old Johnny Simpson of North Carolina who recently piloted Hickory Smoke to victory in the Hambletonian trotting classic, has a string of 28 victories going.

Last season, when he was voted the 2-year-old pacer of the year,

Torpid won 17, placed once and was out of the money once in 19 starts as he picked up $75,376. This year he's won 16 in a row, and makes his next start Thursday in the $20,000 Brown Jug Trial at Detroit's Hazel Park.

As a two-year-old Torpid was the fastest of his age in history with a 1:58 mile at Lexington, Ky.; won the $38,415 Fox pace at Indianapolis in 1:59 4-5; shared the world record over a half-mile track at 2:02 3-5.

This year he has a world record of 2:09 1-5 for a mile and a sixteenth; tied the world record of 2 minutes flat over a two-mile around; equalled Billy Direct's 1:58 mile mark which had stood since 1937, has added wins at Sportsman's Park, the Illinois State Fair, the Du Quoin, Ill., Fair, and last week took the $20,000 Horseman Futurity at the Indiana State Fair, going the first heat in two minutes flat and the second in 1:39 3-5.

It was his eighth mile in two minutes or less for the year, just one under the record held by Single G and set in the 1913-1926 era.

His 1957 efforts have earned him $79,025, boosting his two-year purse-snatching total to $152,401.

Simpson, if he drives Torpid to victory in the $70,000 Little Brown Jug, will become the first reinsman to take the classic two years in a row, and the second ever to capture the Hambletonian and the Jug the same season. Del Miller beat him to the latter honor by winning the 1950 Hambletonian with Lusty Song and the "Jug" with Dudley Hanover.

Around the half-mile track at the Delaware County fairgrounds the horseman figure this year's Jug is a race for second place. No one has even a hazy hunch that anything in the field can get in ahead of Torpid.

Although 53 3-year-old sidewheelers are still eligible, those paying the $500 starting fee could range all the way from 7 to 17. If the entry reaches the last figure the field will be split into two sections, with at least 10 horses sharing the pot of gold. If 16 or under go,

Field men in the Ohio Division of Wildlife report a total of 1,305 hunters checked in the field on September 2, the first day of the squirrel season in the 32-county southern zone. This represents a 27 per cent increase over the hunters checked on the first day in 1956.

Hunting conditions were far from perfect as most of the area in southern Ohio was extremely dry and high winds kept hunter success below average.

According to field personnel and the hunters themselves, the squirrel population is spotty with some areas showing a goodly number of bushytails while in others the numbers of squirrels is apparently below average.

The probable starters, in addition to Torpid, include Adios Express, only pacer in the field to hold a win over the red-hot favorite, Cheyenne Goose, Great Adios, Meadow Rhythm, Meadow Lands, Newport All, Newport Judy, Newport Duke, Rummy Goose, Razzle Dazzle and Sunny Byrd.

The starting fee is due Tuesday, Sept. 17.

Most production is spotty throughout the 32-county southern zone. Mast trees are subject to late frosts like orchard trees and killing frosts of last spring seriously affected the nut crop, particularly on the slopes and in the valleys. Nut trees on the ridges, however, were less seriously affected and squirrels should be more plentiful in such areas.

With cooler weather expected and fall rains in the offing, squirrel hunting will improve and hunters are urged to take advantage of the extended season in the 32-county southern zone where 42 public hunting lands, comprising 211,617 acres of good squirrel territory are available. Private land in the southern zone is also open to squirrel hunting.

Ohio is having a 60-day squirrel hunting season this year not because of a higher squirrel population but because the squirrel harvest is fairly constant each year in spite of variations in the squirrel population.

Although annual variations occur, hunters have never over-hunted the squirrel crop, which is dependent more upon weather and mast supply than hunting. The Division of Wildlife, therefore, is using the extended season as a means of providing additional hunting opportunity.

Tigers Accent Pass Attack

Coach Tom Bennett put his Circleville Tiger gridders through a stiff workout at the Pickaway County Fairgrounds yesterday.

Prepping for Friday night's opener with Athens, the Tigers ran through all phases of offense and defense, with an accent on passing. Linemen were busy hitting the seven-man blocking sled and brushing up on downfield blocking.

Only three more days of practice remain prior to the Athens tilt. With some defensive weaknesses showing up in Friday's practice game with Logan, Coach Bennett probably will put quite a bit of emphasis on this phase for the remainder of the week.

Practice sessions probably will be held at Atwater School during the Pickaway County Fair which starts Wednesday. The Tigers have been using the fairgrounds parking lot as a drill field.

What's Behind Your Electric Switch?

Electricity is so dependable in Ohio that it is taken for granted. You know it's there — at your command. But few folks realize what is required to have it there.

Behind your electric switch are an investment of over two billion dollars and the services of more than 22,000 men and women in Ohio. It is that combination, continuously expanding, which gives Ohio good electric service at low cost.

We're proud of these skilled people — the engineers, plant operators, accountants, linemen, servicemen, meter readers, the people who work in our offices, the women who conduct electric cooking demonstrations—those in dozens of different jobs who work together to make electricity the biggest bargain in your family budget.

This efficient team, using the finest equipment, has met the demand for twice as much electricity in the homes and industries of Ohio as nine years ago.

Roundtown Retrospect

By Mac Noggle

Even if we thought there was any chance of putting this together in story form, we have an idea that the information we have would better serve the purpose by giving it to you as just facts about Circleville's business houses in 1889. Let each oldtimer pick out those they best remember, and from their recollections piece together their own stories.

We're pretty sure many of the names of the proprietors of the stores and the professional men and their offices, at that time, will arouse many happy memories.

We are working from a pamphlet, which is beginning to show that it is close to 70 years old. Bernard Tait loaned it to us. It apparently belonged to Ambrose Biltz, who at the time of its printing, owned a grocery out on East Mound St., a two-story brick, which he built in 1878.

We will try to pick the names of those, we believe would be best remembered and as near as we can tell, where their offices or places of business were.

Mack Parrett—Clothing, hats, caps and other men's furnishings, 117 W. Main St. Assistants, his brothers George and Abram.

Out on E. Main St. now John Kerns' Restaurant, A. D. Schumm had his first shoe store. Al came to Ohio from Pennsylvania 15 years before.

Heffner and Company, owned by Henry R. and William Heffner, had a mill and they were dealers and shippers of grain, at Canal and W. Main St. where the Maizo Mills were.

L. C. BUTCH, father of Lem Butch, watchmaker and jeweler was located at 163 W. Main St. He had been in business in Lancaster, Ohio, before coming to Circleville in 1881.

Roth Brothers, tanners, W. Main St. along canal (where Sunoco's new station is going in) George E. and William Roth came here with their father from Germany and were tanners by trade.

Smith Brothers, fashionable barbers and hair dressers, W. Main St., operated by John and James Smith.

John P. Bolin, groceries and provisions, wines, liquors, tobacco and notions, South East corner Main and Canal Sts.

The Union Herald, Harry E. Lutz, editor, W. Main St. (where Firestone Store now is). Had its inception as the "Olive Branch," back in 1817.

T. W. Stoffer, harness and saddlery, sole leather and findings, W. Main St. Tom Stoffer came here from around Harrodsburg, Ky. in 1870.

Beil and Parks, operators Thos. R. Beil and D. E. Parks, W. Main St., millers and dealers in grain, flour, meal and feed.

W. A. Endworth & Company, general hardware. His partner was J. N. Brunner.

George B. Curt, W. Main St., grain commission broker.

Oscar H. Spencer, W. Main St., artist in photography since 1867. One of the most completely equipped art galleries in the State.

G. J. Brunner & Company—boots, shoes and rubbers. E. Main St.

Morris and Warner, groceries and provisions, N. Court St. successors to Pontius and Morris. Members of the firm, Thos. J. Morris and Noah A. Warner.

G. W. BAUDER, successor to his father, William Bauder, carriage works and dealer in farm implements, corner Watt and Court Sts. (where Gas Company and Bus Station now is.)

Charles Bock, photographic artist, portrait and landscape photographer. On W. Main St.

William Vieth, general insurance and notary public—office W. Main St.

Lemuel Roadarmel, manufacturer of boots and shoes, corner of Pickaway and Main Sts.

Denman and Selter, carriage works, corner of Main and Pickaway Sts.

B. H. Moore, general hardware, W. Main St. beyond Scioto, location now occupied by N & W Rwy.

C. W. Schwartz, general blacksmith and wagon shop, Pickaway and Franklin Sts., brick building, now a part of Rothman's Department Store.

Beck Brothers, E. Main St., partners were Fred, John and Louis Beck.

Phillip Branan, E. Main St. Fashionable barber and hair dresser, hot and cold baths. "Here a man can make himself akin to Godliness, at a very reasonable price."

S. Nightingale, Franklin St., livery, feed and sale stables.

John Groce & Sons, pork packing and curing house, W. High St. at Canal.

G. F. Wittich, manufacturer of fine and pure confections, dealer in toys, fruits etc., wholesale and retail, Wittich Block, W. Main St.

H. P. Lorbach, jeweler and optician, West Main Street.

editor and owner, established in 1863, Second Floor, Odd Fellows Building.

JAMES J. EGAN, groceries, provisions and fresh meats, W. Main St.

Washington Bakery, I. S. Cyr, proprietor since 1884, W. Main St. (where Circleville Appliance and Refrigeration Company is.)

G. "Christy" Bayer, merchant tailor, W. Main St.

J. F. Scheyer, office and coal yards corner Mound and Canal Sts. (where Circleville Oil bulk plant is.)

Wm. Foresman & Brother, manufacturers of flour, meal and feed. West of town, where Route 56 leaves Route 22.

Isaac Levy, clothier, corner Court and Main Sts., where Benny's Restaurant is.

Pickaway Broom Works, M. G. Goeller's Sons, proprietors, founded in 1866, forebear of the Kippit Kit Company.

3-Minute Egg Boiled by Girl In 1½ Minutes

NEW YORK (AP)—Three-minute eggs may be cooked in 1½ minutes, thanks to research by a 14-year-old girl, the American Chemical Society's national meeting was told today.

The girl, Brenda Gail Kanegis, a student at a Hyattsville, Md., junior high school, discovered that when glycerine is added to water the cooking time for vegetables and other foods can be greatly reduced.

Her findings were contained in a paper prepared for delivery to the society today.

She is author of the paper jointly with her father, James Kanegis, a member of the Office of Technical Services, Department of Commerce, and Dr. Roger Gilmont, a chemical engineer, who is vice president and technical director of the Manostat Corp., New York City.

Glycerine, when dissolved in water, Gilmont said, means the boiling point can be raised without resorting to pressure. Ordinarily, pressure is used to achieve the high temperatures needed to speed up cooking.

Miss Kanegis' research, carried out in a school science project, won her a prize in the Prince Georges County, Md., Science Fair.

Because of the successful application of glycerine solutions in cooking of various foods, Gilmont said, future experiments will use pure glycerine to fry foods. If these are successful, he said, housewives will be able to produce fried foods without grease.

Federal Farm Agency Said 'Dangerous'

TOLEDO (AP)—The president of the Chicago Board of Trade calls the Commodity Credit Corporation (CCC) a threat to the "continued existence of the entire agricultural marketing structure of this country."

Robert C. Liebenow spoke Monday at a session of the 61st annual convention of the Grain and Feed Dealers National Assn. on the topic: "CCC—Comedy, Confusion and Competition."

He called for "forceful and effective" legislation to eliminate "once and for all government interference in our business." He added that, in his opinion, "peaceful coexistence with CCC has long since slipped quietly by."

"The question to me," he said, "is how long will it be before CCC virtually takes over the entire free corn market. Their prediction for next year's corn sales means they will be handling more than two-thirds of the corn merchandising business in this country. How can our marketing machine continue to function under these conditions?"

Korea Bonus Total Told

COLUMBUS (AP)—The Korean Conflict Compensation fund sent out bonus checks totaling $16,972, 943 during June, July and August, Chester W. Goble, director, announced Monday. Some 69,140 checks were sent to veterans so far.

A. H. Shaffer, M. D., physician and surgeon, office—Watt St., east.

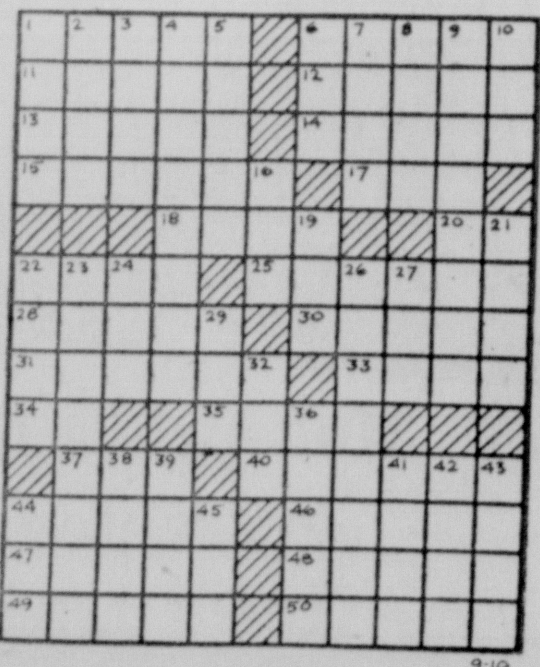

H. S. Miller & Son, carriage works, corner of Union and Washington Sts. (where Finley Jones lives.)

A lot of folks have been missed, we know, but surely, with this list, we've started some retrospecting for many of you.

Firms Trying All Sources For New Money

Corporations Wooing Banks, Insurance, Pension Funds, Public

NEW YORK (AP)—In the scramble to round up a record amount of new money in a tight money market the nation's corporations today are turning every which way.

To the banks for short term loans and long term credits, to the insurance companies, pension funds and the general public willing to invest in corporate bonds, notes and debentures, to the public with offerings of new common stocks—and increasingly to their own shareholders with offerings of rights to buy more stock.

The demand for new capital is immense. The ability of the public and the financial institutions to supply it is huge. More than 7½ billion dollars of corporate financing was absorbed in the first half of 1956.

Corporations want the money to finance their record expansion to keep production lines rolling, to acquire other companies, to speed research and development of new products demanded in a highly competitive age.

Only a small share of the new capital is being raised in common or preferred stock. In reporting a record offering of more than 3 billion dollars of corporate securities in the first three months of the year, the Securities and Exchange Commission noted that 800 million dollars of this was in equity issues, leaving the lion's share to bonds, notes and debentures.

But by midyear, aided by a stock market that was in a rising phase during much of the time, corporations had raised their total of new funds from common stock far above the level of recent years.

The Exchange, official magazine of the New York Stock Exchange, reports today that 27 companies listed on the big board offered their share owners in the first half of this year rights to acquire 24,024,520 additional shares of common stock. This netted the companies $1,008,662,819 in new money.

This was nearly as much as 41 listed companies raised in all of 1955, and more than 44 got in all of 1955.

The rights allow a shareholder to buy more stock at a price below the then-current market price or to sell their rights for cash to outsiders or to other shareholders.

The Exchange reports that in all 27 cases the prices of the stocks at mid-year were higher than the prices paid for the additional shares when the rights were exercised.

The largest amount of new money raised this way was $231,049,060 on 1,050,223 shares offered by International Business Machines at $220 each. Sweeney Mobil Oil was second with $199,278,989 from 4,379,758 shares. In third place, Anaconda Co. offered 3,337,036 shares to raise $43,381,468.

Trading in rights was brisk. Volume for the entire 27 offerings came to 43,629,600.

The novel, "Gone With the Wind," has been translated into 30 languages, more than "Uncle Tom's Cabin."

TV Success Easy to Explain

Arthur Murray Gives His Personal Theory

NEW YORK (AP)—Arthur Murray finds success as one of television's most unusual producers simple to explain.

"The show," he says, "makes women somehow feel that maybe there's a bit of life in the old girl yet."

This largely comes about, he explained, as feminine viewers identify themselves with Kathryn Murray, his wife and the star of the show.

"Mostly, though," he added hastily, the identifying "is done by women older than Kathryn."

The show, an eight year network perennial, winds up its current stint on NBC-TV next Monday with a $75,000 splash. Most of the cost, in line with other off-beat aspects of the "Arthur Murray Party" will be underwritten by Murray himself.

In addition to its particular charm for the ladies, Murray feels the Party's climb to second place among the top 20 programs in highly competitive New York is largely a matter of being on the right spot at the right time.

He won't go on the air before 8:30 p. m. — "This is a show in which a lot of viewers feel they are getting away from the everyday, and you can't do that if the dishes are still in the sink."

Perhaps more than any other major TV enterprise the show remains the family enterprise of the two Murrys.

He produces, plans, directs the shows "and sometimes I even teach the guests their dance routines."

She is the personality around whom the whole enterprise pivots.

"People like to see someone on the air whom they can consider a friend," says Murray of his wife.

"They like to have her come into their home. She never talks down to them."

This audience characteristic,

Arkansas Governor Draws Line on State-Federal Power

LITTLE ROCK, Ark. (AP)—If the federal government, moves into Arkansas by force or in any other manner to limit the power of the governor "we will have lost our last right of local self-government," Gov. Orval Faubus says.

The governor thus drew a sharp line between states rights and federal authority which he is challenging in the Little Rock integration case.

"If blood is then shed, my conscience will be clear, but I will weep for my people," the governor said in a speech delivered over television Monday.

He said given the opportunity "We can accomplish an orderly and non-violent integration of our public schools in this state."

The governor also said U.S. Dist. Judge Ronald Davies of North Dakota has appeared "high-handed and arbitrary" in dealing with the Little Rock integration problem.

In his speech, Faubus said he wanted to review the actions of the North Dakota judge "who arrived here only a few days ago. He has had three hearings on this matter... 1 hour and 24 minutes was the total time consumed in all three hearings, on a matter so important—a matter in which the peace and good order of the community is involved, as well as the lives and property of its citizens."

Judge Davies, filling a vacant Arkansas federal district bench temporarily, has twice ruled that integration must begin "forthwith" and once denied the school board's request that his integration order be postponed to allow tension to ease.

Davies, in effect, told the school board to go ahead with a plan of gradual integration which pre-adds Murray, sets fans apart from critics.

"Most critics like satirical people, who are critical of other people," he declared. "Audiences like persons who are friendly and make fun of themselves rather than anyone else."

viously had been upheld by a federal appeals court.

The governor said his actions were "to protect the Negro as well as the white children and to avoid a very clear and present danger of a race riot..." He said he knew Arkansas Negroes would quickly forget the part he had played in their progress in the state and knew he would be condemned by their leaders "even though I acted in their interest."

Faubus said "maybe Negro leaders and white integrationist leaders and even Federal Judge Davies are willing to sacrifice the lives of a certain number of people in this community in order to

Underground Parking Plan Faces Lawsuit

COLUMBUS (AP)—The Underground Parking Commission Monday filed suit in the Ohio Supreme Court to test the legality of a proposed $5 million bond issue to finance their Statehouse parking project.

The commission asked the court to order its secretary-treasurer, Alvin J. Alexander, to publish notice of the bond sale and prepare a prospectus giving advance information to arouse interest. The commission Friday adopted a resolution approving the bond issue, to finance construction of a 1,000-car

New Factory Planned In Western Columbus

COLUMBUS (AP)—The Surface Combustion Corp. says its Janitrol Aircraft Division plant, office, research and testing facilities will be housed in Columbus in a new $2 million building program.

The division, which will manufacture aircraft components, will be established near the Westinghouse plant in the western suburbs of Columbus.

garage under the Statehouse square in Columbus.

Alexander voted against the bond resolution and balked at publication of the notice and preparation of the prospectus. His actions paved the way for the court test of the 40-year bond proposal, officials said.
